

Boudreaux 's divorced sister, Odet, came to live with them for a while. His kids, Little Boudreaux and Marie, didn't like it very much. But 9 year old Marie was inquisitive.

"Aunt Odet, how old are you? How much do you weigh? Why did you get divorced?" Marie asked all at once.

"Kid, dey ain't none of dat none of your business. Now git," Odet answered.

Marie got mad and complained to Little Boudreaux, "She won't tell me nothing."

"Just look on her drivers license," Little Boudreaux suggested.

"What's dat?" Marie asked.

"It's a little piece of paper covered in plastic with every thing about her on it. Sort of like a report card for grown ups," Little Boudreaux answered.

As soon as she got a chance Marie peeked at Odet's drives license.

The next day Marie was sitting in the chair on the porch when Odet came out of the house.

"Git up and let me sit in dat chair," Odet ordered.

"I don't have to - I know all about you," Marie replied.

"What you think you know little girl?" Odet asked.

"I know dat you're 44 years old, dat you weigh 185 pounds, and I know why you got divorced," Marie stated.

"And why is dat smartie pants?" Odet asked.

Marie said, "Cause you got a F in sex".
